UTM'S FORENSIC LECTURERS AS VISITING SCIENTISTS AT MALDIVES POLICE SERVICE FORENSIC DIRECTORATE

Three of our lecturers (Dr. Naji A. Mahat, Dr. Aemi Syazwani Abdul Keyon and Dr. Mohamad Afiq Mohamed Huri) were invited as visiting scientists to the Forensic Directorate of the Maldives Police Service during 3rd – 5th September 2018. The visit has come to an agreement to sign a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) between the Maldives Police Service and Universiti Teknologi Malaysia, which hopefully would materialize by end of 2018. The MoU draft will be prepared by the Maldives Police Service by end of September 2018. The lecturers had also delivered three special lectures to the forensic police officers. The titles were: Forensic sciences and its challenges: UTM's experience in forensic research (Dr. Naji A. Mahat), Chromatography-separating innocent and guilty, identifying facts and fictions (Dr. Aemi Syazwani Abdul Keyon), and Explosives and post-blast residues analysis (Dr. Mohamad Afiq Mohamed Huri).
